Re: Wood Stove Removal in some of RMBL's cabins this summer

As a growing organization and as part of our continued process to improve our infrastructure, RMBL is faced with increasingly stringent regulations. In the beginning of the 2012 summer season we are required to review our wood stoves with regards to compliance to current National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) standards.

In your selection of summer housing options, please note that we will be removing stoves from the following cabins, as they do not comply with the NFPA standards: Beanpod, Crystal, Enders, Enders Annex, Lead King, North Pole, Oh-Be-Joyful, Pelton, Porcupine, Remington, Schofield, Sylvanite, Tincup, Whiterock, and Willey.

Please know that Bellview, Doctors Annex, East River, Mammal Lab, Ore House, Paradise, Swallow's Nest, Virginia, and Yule do not have a wood heating source.

In the beginning of the summer, we will further inspect the following cabins for compliance with NFPA guidelines. The inspections may result in some maintenance or replacement of existing wood stoves: Augusta, Avery, Baker, Barclay, Calder, Cinnamon, Ehrlich, Hull, Hunter, Forest Queen, Galena, Gates, Levi, Mt. Emmons, Ouray, Richards, Red Rock, Rogers-Boggs, Teocalli, Treasury, and Weekley.

We will also determine in the early summer which cabins can utilize electric heaters.

Due to these circumstances, some of the cabins will not be available in the early and late summer season. We reserve the right to move you into different cabins during this time, depending on the outcome of the inspections. We will do our best to accommodate early season and late season users in housing with an existing heating source. Please be sure to choose your housing options accordingly.

Thank you very much for your understanding.
